

Editorial Critique Service

Our goal is to give you a critique that provides valuable constructive criticism to improve your manuscript. The intrinsic value of a critique is well recognized in the industry and is a central element in the development of any writer.

Honesty is the best policy, and we are not afraid to tell the truth. This is what we believe every writer needs. We believe a good critique has three things; it lists the good and bad, it covers a broad range of aspects, and it references specific parts of your manuscript. We look at the overall concept of the book, how well the idea is executed, character development, prose, and much more.

This is a great place to start if you want professional feedback, a peer review, or need to know the level of editing your manuscript will need. Your book can be fiction or non fiction, published or still a rough draft.

The Service Includes:

- ✓ 1,000-word critique from a professional editor
- ✓ Specific feedback on various aspects of your book
- ✓ Delivered in 45 days
